

Jingru Høivik has Bachelor's degrees in library and information science and electrical engineering from China and a Master's degree in library and information science from Norway. She is currently a fellow on the professional doctoral level program in librarianship at Oslo University College.

She works as Chief Engineer at the National Library of Norway where her current tasks cover web design, database development, FLASH presentations and programming. The emphasize is on mobile computing and how to digitize and thus make special collections online available for the general public.

<http://jingru.latina.pedit.hio.no/>